VetImaging MicroMaxx ultrasound

Swift M10 digital microscope

Keen to apply modern technology to small animal general practice, Yolinda Animal Hospital has recently invested in a digital ultrasound unit and digital microscope to complement their digital x-ray machine. Veterinarian Dr. Rana Olsen said 'this new ultrasound unit is state-of-the-art and allows us to look at and measure internal abnormalities such as nodules, masses, abscesses and cysts that are difficult or impossible to see using x-rays, without causing any pain to the pet. The new microscope allows for the capture, storage and retrieval of images, which will allow us to more effectively communicate diagnoses to our clients.'

Spring is here...and so are fleas!!

Fleas, ticks and mosquitos all thrive in warm weather, and now winter is over it's important your pets are protected from these vectors and the diseases they spread. For example, fleas can spread tapeworms, parasitic flatworms that live in the digestive tract of pets and people. Ticks can spread Lyme disease, which if untreated can be fatal, and mosquitos can spread heartworm, a parasitic roundworm which lives primarily in the heart of the host. Fortunately, safe, effective products capable of killing fleas, ticks and mosquitos and the parasites are available at Yolinda Animal Hospital. For dogs, we carry Advantage Multi, which kills fleas and certain forms of the parasitic worms, and Vectra 3D, which kills fleas, ticks and mosquitos. For cats, we carry cat Vectra 3D, which kills fleas and mosquitos. Please call for more information.

Sales tax victory!!!

Earlier this year, Yolinda Animal Hospital encouraged all clients to oppose Governor Schwarzenegger's plan to levy state sales tax on veterinary services. We were appalled at the prospect of a tax which would harm pets, and are very grateful to everyone you who telephoned the governor's office to express your disapproval at his proposal. As a result of your efforts and those of other pet owners, the budget does not include a tax on veterinary services - we prevailed! There is still work to be done as veterinary services may be targeted again in future budget revisions, and of course we are required to pass on the state-wide increase in sales tax levied on over-the-counter items. Further developments will be reported in subsequent newsletters.
